

American Legion In Illuminating Parade

Surprising a large crowd that had congregated to attend the Fiesta last night, the local American Legion planned a parade consisting of decorated automobiles, flying banners, quantities of red fire and plenty of band music, and marched through the principal streets of Torrance winding up at their hall, where a large crowd assembled to hear excellent music and dance. The Legion Dances have been held regularly in Torrance for months

STUDEBAKER SALES

Among the many sales made yesterday by the automobile dealers was that of a Special Six Studebaker to E. H. Nash, cashier of the Llewellyn Iron Works of Torrance and a Big Six Studebaker to Al J. Price of Redondo Beach, both sales being consummated by P. E. Hennis, Studebaker distributor of Redondo Beach.

and have become one of the popular functions of the social life here, and this week thousands of people swarmed the city, those desiring to trip the light fantastic were given the opportunity by the legionaires. Last night the Sub-Base band came up from San Pedro and helped out with the entertainment.

FIRST STEP IN DEVELOPMENT TO BE TAKEN

it was found necessary to secure but a fraction of this number to bring the matter officially to the supervisors' attention. The tentative plan that we have in mind for the route to be followed by Western Avenue, and one that is perfectly feasible, according to Engineer Jones and other experts, is a continuation of Western Avenue to Torrance, swinging into this city under the Pacific Electric bridge as at present, thence via Arlington Avenue to Narbonne Street in Lomita, to Redondo Boulevard and thence to San Pedro by the present excellent highway.

"Regarding the objectionable, rough and tortuous strip of unpaved highway between Electric Avenue and 193rd Street, it seems to be the consensus of opinion that as it is entirely out of the question to form an assessment district along the half mile, the property being owned by five families of Japanese, and due to the fact that every property owner in Hollywood and of the towns along the Western avenue route "to the sea" would Lomita, to Redondo Boulevard and use this highway and be benefitted thereby, the proper way of straightening an improving this strip would be to assess the cost insome way to the entire fourth district. Up to date I have heard of no objection to this method of procedure and as the estimated cost is only approximately $20,000 it looks now as though the matter was settled and our troubles would soon be over.

"Some slight objection has been raised to the fact that the proposed route would bring too much traffic through Torrance. Such objection can easily be overcome in the estimation of many expert road builders and engineers by diverting some of this traffic across the Pacific Electric tracks parallel with the bridge, the road to abut on the Union Tool Company's property on the east, and to leave the selection of the route from there to San Pedro in the hands of the Regional Planning conference.

"The Western Avenue Business Men's Association of Hollywood, business men and civic bodies in San Pedro and other cities along the proposed route are in hearty accord with the tentative plans and are working in perfect harmony for the carrying out of their slogan "Western Avenue to the Sea."

HOUSES FOR WORKMEN

The housing question that has been to the fore for the past year or more in Torrance and that has now reached an acute stage, was again revived this morning when it was learned three men, representing several million dollars capital had been in Torrance, looking over the possibilities for the building of from 100 to 200 modern homes here for the mechanics employed in the various factories. That such a deal is actually contemplated is vouched for by the Herald though we are not permitted at this time to give the names of the interested parties.

A New York man suggests a tax on noises. There is already a considerable noise on taxes.
